WEEK 0 OF A NEW SCHOOL YEAR
Welcome to Week 0 of the fall quarter. This is the first of two newsletters this week, both full of summer updates. This first update is all about the work our faculty, staff, and students have created over the past few months with another to follow later this week about our alumni. As always, please send updates to tanddnews@ucsd.edu for inclusion in future newsletters!

PERFORMANCES AND READINGS FOR WEEK 0
The new school year starts off with three staged readings from our incoming MFA Playwriting students. All readings are free, open to the public, and will be held at the Wagner Theatre.

Thursday, September 28th, at 5:30pm, White History by Dave Harris, directed by Dylan Key
Thursday, September 28th, at 7:00pm, Deadheads by Ali Viterbi, directed by Nicholas Rapp
Friday, September 29th, at 7:00pm, Do You Feel Anger by Mara Greenburg-Nelson, directed by Joe Hendel
STUDIO PRODUCTION OF EURYDICE TO OPEN AT WAGNER THEATRE THIS WEEK

A Studio production of Sarah Ruhl's Eurydice will open this week at the Wagner Theatre. Eurydice is a modern reinvention of the classic myth of Orpheus through the eyes of his lover and muse, Eurydice. When she accidentally dies on her wedding day, Eurydice learns the rules of the underworld, is reunited with her father, and struggles to remember her lost love. This collaboration of UCSD Theatre & Dance graduate and PhD students, along with local artists, explores the musicality of Sarah Ruhl's world, communication across uncrossable boundaries, and asks which relationships are worth dying for. Performances are on Saturday, September 30th at 7:30 PM and Sunday, October 1st at 2:00 & 7:30 PM in the Arthur Wagner Theatre. Tickets are Pay What You Will (suggested $10 donation) and can be reserved by contacting eurydicestudioproject@gmail.com. All of the proceeds will be used to support graduate students' showcase.

JUDITH DOLAN ON BROADWAY EXHIBITION OPENS IN LA JOLLA

MFA Design and Directing Faculty Professor Judith Dolan is serving as our interim chair this quarter and is currently having much of her work from her illustrious career presented by the La Jolla Historical Society. The exhibit include designs for on Broadway and off and digs into her professional practice which includes extensive historical research, the use of collage and storyboarding, and the creation of hand-drawn sketches and renderings. This exhibition surveys Dolan's creative process across nine theater productions over two decades, accompanied by a brief survey of the history of performing arts organizations in La Jolla. The exhibit opened on Friday with a reception that was attended by many friends of the department, including Molli Wagner and MFA Acting Faculty Professor Eva Barnes (pictured at left), and runs through January of 2018.
JUDITH DOLAN DESIGNS IN DELAWARE

This summer Judy designed the costumes for a production of You Can't Take It with You for the Resident Ensemble Players at the Thompson Theatre, Roselle Center for the Arts in Newark, Delaware in a production directed by Sanford Robbins with Associate Costume Design from MFA Design alumna Danae McQueen. The production opened last week and runs through October 8th. A production still is featured below.
