Arts Around Campus

LOUD silence is an exhibition that offers the opportunity for viewers to consider definitions of sound, voice, and notions of silence at the intersection of both deaf and hearing cultures. LOUD silence is curated by Ph.D. student Amanda Cachia. The exhibition displays prints, drawings, sculptures, videos, and a film installation, and features work by four artists who have different relationships to deafness and hearing, including Shary Boyle, Christine Sun Kim, Darrin Martin and Alison O'Daniel. The exhibition loudly challenges the myth of the deaf experience as a life of total silence. For more info on this event, visit CAL IT2's website.

Other News

Professor Julie Burelle has just been awarded the Equity, Diversity, and Inclusion Excellence Award for New Faculty ($20 000) for a three-year pilot project entitled Creating/Creative Dialogue. This initiative proposes employing the performing arts to establish and nurture constructive and creative encounters between the UCSD campus and Indigenous artists and scholars from local, national, and international communities. Over the next three years, workshops, master classes, and other events by Native American artists will take place on campus and Professor Burelle, along with graduate students from UCSD will develop artistic collaborations with local Kumeyaay communities.
West Campus Parking Update

With ongoing construction and growth at UC San Diego, parking in the West Campus area has become highly impacted. To address this, we are currently working on a variety of strategies that will help ease parking challenges.

Short-term solutions implemented and under evaluation include:

* Addition of Lot P651 (Sixth College). This is a temporary lot with approximately 100 spaces now available for B permit holders. The lot is located on the north side of the Veterans Administration Medical Center (VAMC) on Gilman Drive across the street from Sixth College/P406. The lot is available until Summer 2015 when construction begins on reconfiguring and widening Gilman Drive to accommodate the future Gilman Bridge.

* Clearing of Lot P604 (School of Medicine). Expediting removal of construction equipment and supplies to provide additional spaces.
* UC Vehicle Space Conversion. Converting, where possible, restricted spaces for UC vehicles and other designated vehicles into permit spaces.

* Re-configuration of Lot P207 (Muir College). A re-striping/re-configuration analysis is underway to add more parking spaces.

* Parallel Parking Spaces on Hopkins Drive (North Campus). Approximately 20-30 spaces could be added temporarily along the west side of Hopkins Drive.

* Adding Parking at the School of Medicine. A new temporary surface parking area north of Osler Drive is under consideration. This would add approximately 100 spaces.

* Gliderport Parking Lot. Development of temporary parking at the Torrey Pines Gliderport is being considered and would add 200-300 spaces. The campus is consulting with Coastal Commission staff on feasibility.

* Parking at Scripps/Upper Mesa site (South of Revelle College). If developed, surface parking would be located along Capricorn Lane, southwest of North Torrey Pines Road. Approximately 75-100 spaces could be added.

We expect campus parking needs to continue evolving over the next few years as critical regional transportation projects come online. These include the Gilman Transit Center, which became operational in September 2015, as well as the 11-mile extension of the MTS Trolley Blue Line. With service to campus beginning in 2019, the introduction of the trolley will have a profound impact on how students, faculty, staff and visitors access campus. As these changes take place, we will continue to strive to meet the campus's ongoing parking and access needs.

If you have any questions or comments, please contact Transportation Services at TellTPS@ucsd.edu.

Alumni News

Playwriting Alum Lila Rose Kaplan (MFA '08) received a fantastic review in The New York Times for her play [THE LIGHT PRINCESS] at New Victory Theater. The Times wrote about the show: "Richly imagined and delightfully acted, this 70-minute production proves unexpected in almost every way." The production was originally developed at the A.R.T. Institute at Harvard. In the piece, two witty wisemen sing a story of a young princess cursed by a wicked witch to float through life indefinitely. Twirling above the stage, through the kingdom and into a magical forest, she must find a way to come back to earth by her sixteenth birthday or be doomed to defy gravity forever. Read the full review here and check out tickets for the production here.
One more week to catch THE TRIP's latest production in San Diego:

3 PLAYS IN A TATTOO SHOP

Three writers, three actors, three new plays - one functioning tattoo shop. The fleeting nature of the theater collides with the permanence of tattoo art as brothers, lovers, and total strangers meet in a tattoo parlor for an evening of site-specific theater. One audience member per performance will be welcome to get tattooed as part of the show. Yep, really tattooed. As in, permanently. Partnering with local legend Bill Canales and performing in his South Park tattooing salon, Full Circle Tattoo, THE TRIP proudly presents: 3 PLAYS IN A TATTOO SHOP.

performed by Jared Houseman, Matthew MacNelly (MFA '13), and Thomas Miller (BA '12) written by Ryan Campbell, Emily Dendinger, and current MFA playwright Emily Feldman directed by Joshua Kahan Brody (MFA '13)
