THE PLAYWRIGHT

Phanésia Pharel is a Haitian-American playwright & screenwriter from a dragon fruit farm in Miami. The daughter of an immigrant teacher and farmer, she writes to honor people.

She will make her Off-Broadway debut at the WP Theater in the spring of 2026 with her play THE WATERFALL directed by Obie Winner Taylor Reynolds.

She is the incoming Playwriting Fellow (2025-2027) at Emory University, where she will teach and have a new play produced by their repertory company.

Her plays have been developed at the New Harmony Project, Playwrights' Center, New York Stage and Film, SolFest, Thrown Stone, Shattered Globe, and Echo Theater Company.

She has received commissions from the Atlantic Theater, Lucille Lortel (Alcove), La Jolla Playhouse, Miranda Family Fund, Hero Theatre, City Theatre Miami, and the Latinx Playwrights Circle.

Phanésia is a member of the Obie-winning EST/Youngblood group and The Wish Collective. As a screenwriter, she is a member of Lena Waithe's Hillman Grad Screenwriting Lab.

Her honors include The Kilroys Web, five awards from the Kennedy Center, and recognition as a two-time Bay Area Playwrights Festival Finalist/Honorable Mention. She is a Jane Chambers Finalist, an A is For Playwriting Award recipient and a finalist for the Frank Moffett Mosier Fellowship for Works in Heightened Language.

She holds a B.A. in Urban Studies from Barnard College of Columbia University.
